Bookstore, Vending, and Food Service Revenue

The College may collect profits and commissions from bookstore, vending, and food service operations in any manner that is consistent with the regulations, mission, and purpose of the System. According to the NCGS, profits from bookstore sales shall not be used to supplement salaries of any College personnel. According to the NCAC, profits from vending facilities, vending machines, and other convenience concession activities shall not be used to supplement the salary of the President. Profits may be used in the support and enhancement of the bookstore, vending operations, and food services; for student aid or scholarships; for expenditures of direct benefit to students; and for other similar expenditures authorized by the Board, subject to rules adopted by the System.
