Dear Distance Learner,

The Office of Distance Learning commends you for choosing online learning at Craven Community College. We are dedicated to providing high-quality online courses taught by supportive teaching faculty. As a distance learning (DL) student, you will find your online and hybrid classes academically equivalent to the on-campus courses.

Carefully read the material presented in this handbook. The handbook was designed to provide you with information specific to distance learning including:

- how to be a successful DL student
- how to navigate Moodle
- where to find your course syllabi
- information about proctored exams
- how to be successful in your courses.

At the beginning of the semester, it is important to orient yourself to important information about the College by reading the Student Handbook, as well as the General Catalog. Every student is responsible for observing the rules and regulations for the College as published in these documents. You may review these publications on the Craven Community College website by typing “Student Handbook” or “General Catalog” in the upper righthand search box.

If you have any questions regarding technical issues, accessing Moodle, or Moodle passwords, please submit a help desk ticket through the Panther Help portal https://help.cravenccc.edu/ or call (252) 638-7212. Any other questions, contact the Academic Skills Center (ASC) at one of the following numbers: New Bern (252-638-7274) or Havelock (252-444-0707). If you have any issue or questions about any information in this handbook, Moodle courses, or distance learning, please contact one of the Distance Learning team members: Director, Dr. Jenifer Marquis (252-638-2039), or Senior Administrative Assistant, Diana Dargon (252-638-7327). For technical support or assistance during nights and weekends, please contact the 24/7 Help Desk located on the CravenCC Online webpage.

Wishing you all the best this semester!

The Distance Learning Team
The Office of Distance Learning Vision and Mission Statements

Vision – We are Craven County’s premier online educational institution.

Mission – Craven Community College’s Office of Distance Learning will provide quality training and support for faculty and will facilitate the creation of high quality online, blended and hybrid courses accessible to all students.

In order to meet the growing needs of on-campus and off-campus online students, the office will:

- Provide innovative and practical pedagogical and technological training for faculty in order to improve the design and delivery of courses.
- Ensure flexible and convenient access to asynchronous, online courses and programs for all students.
- Foster growth by supporting the expansion of our distance learning presence throughout all programs.
- Empower faculty and staff to provide a learning environment that is innovative, accommodating, and supportive of student success. Introduction to Distance Learning

Distance learning (DL) is a powerful option for students who wish to study and learn in their own time and place. Many students have schedules that do not fit with the traditional on-campus course offerings and DL provides a viable avenue to a quality education. Distance learning is ideal for students who want to get an education, but do not live near one of the Craven Community College campuses. Distance learning at Craven Community College offers quality and convenience for today’s hectic lifestyle without the need to come to campus.

Distance Learning Course Definitions

Online Courses
College curriculum or continuing education course in which 100% of the instruction is delivered via the Internet/online. Courses may have proctored testing, but instruction is delivered completely online.

Hybrid Courses
College curriculum or continuing education course in which >50% but <100% of instruction is delivered when the student and the instructor are separated by distance. Instructional delivery methods may include, but are not limited to: Internet, LMS, licensed instructional video, CD, TV, DVD, instructional software, or other media.
Blended
College curriculum or continuing education course in which ≤50% of instruction is delivered when the student and the instructor are separated by distance. Instructional delivery methods may include, but are not limited to: Internet, LMS, licensed instructional video, CD, TV, DVD, instructional software, or other media.

The Successful Distance Learner
Qualities of successful distance learners vary. The following is based on advice from instructors and students who have had positive distance learning experiences.

Good Study Habits
One of the best ways to be a successful distance learner is to develop and execute good study habits including:

- checking your Craven email account at least once a day
- time management - don’t let assignments go until the last day
- use all available resources
- work in a quiet, uninterrupted area as much as possible
- dedicate at least 3 hours per week for each credit hour of your course
- communicate frequently with your instructor and peers
- reach out when you need help
- have a strong sense of self-awareness

Learners who have a strong sense of self-awareness and good study habits usually have better strategies for understanding new information and are typically more successful in an online environment.

Self-Discipline and Motivation
Another characteristic shared by successful distance learners is self-discipline. This distinguishing feature is usually seen in the learner’s ability to stay current with class assignments, participate on a regular basis in online discussions, and adhere to assignment due dates.

One way to promote self-discipline is to organize your time using a calendar. Schedule an appointment time on the calendar to study for an exam, work on assignments, and complete assigned readings. Be sure to arrive to your appointment on time and stay for the full allotted time. Your appointment should take place in an area dedicated to your studies and free from distractions. Select an area that is quiet and has enough light and space for you to work properly.
Distance learners need to be self-motivated. Unlike traditional courses in which the students and instructor meet face-to-face, learning activities and communication in DL courses are remote. This arrangement allows you the flexibility to work when it is most convenient for you. It will be your responsibility to remain motivated and engaged. You are responsible for knowing when course activities are due.

Time Management

Time management is a commitment; you must set aside a significant amount of time each week for class work. Distance learning classes require as much time and effort as traditional seated classes, if not more. If your class is a 3-credit hour class, you should schedule a minimum of nine hours each week to accomplish course work. The rule is 3 hours of work for each credit hour, per week. If your course is a hybrid course, then use the rule to determine how much time you should be spending on course work outside of class time based on the number of credit hours.

It is important not to leave assignments until the last minute. Plan your time to include any potential technical difficulties in software, hardware, or internet connections. Typically, for assignments that are not completed on time, instructors assign a grade of zero or reduce the grade by a percentage. These details will be posted in the course syllabus. Using the course syllabus as a guide and the calendar you developed for self-discipline will help you better manage your time.

Class Communication

Successful distance learners interact frequently with instructors and fellow students during course activities. As an online student, effective communication is key, but can be difficult. Without the face-to-face contact of a traditional classroom, written communication becomes paramount. Since written communication lacks the facial expressions, tone of voice and other non-verbal cues seen or heard during face-to-face communication, the following tips are recommended:

- identify course and section in the subject line of email
- when asking a question, be specific and provide details about what you are trying to figure out and what you don’t understand
- always identify yourself in the message
- keep it simple - be clear and concise
- avoid using jargon and overusing “big” words
- use concrete, specific words rather than vague, general words
- write professionally, but as you would talk
- avoid “texting” language, foul language or slang
- vary your sentence length, but avoid very long (run-on) sentences
- write in a positive tone
- do not respond in anger
- always edit and proofread your work before you send it
- check spelling and grammar

computer with internet access. A high-speed connection is preferred. If you do not have a computer or internet access there are several locations on the New Bern and Havelock campuses that have computers available for students including: The Academic Skills Center, and the Library. Public libraries often have internet access as well.

Security
If you have installed pop-up, cookie, or spam blockers on your personal computer you will experience difficulties connecting to Moodle. Depending on your system’s configuration or where you are working you may have difficulty accessing Moodle or email sites. Changing your browser or Internet access location may fix the problem. If this doesn’t solve your problem, contact the Help Desk at New Bern (252-638-7212), Havelock (252-444-0707) or submit a help desk ticket through the Panther Help Portal - https://help.cravencce.edu/.

Virus Scanners
You should have anti-virus software installed and running on your computer when connected to the internet. Some of the most popular products include McAfee VirusScan, Norton (Symantec) Anti-Virus and Sophos Anti-Virus.
Browser Plug-Ins

For some courses, you may be required to have one or more of these plug-in application programs. These plug-ins are FREE downloads from the vendors and can be found on the internet. If you have any questions or concerns about any of the plug-ins and are unable to download the plug-ins, contact the Academic Skills Center. The following are recommended for your computer:

Privacy and Protection

Craven Community College is committed to the protection of the privacy of students and their education records. The College provides notice to students of their privacy via the Student, Educational and Privacy Notice located on the Craven website. Craven also provides students disclosure of information specifically related to Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act, (FERPA) located on the college’s website and within the College Catalog. FERPA is also addressed by the Board of Trustees approved policy – Student Records and Privacy Rights, Policy. The College requires all faculty and staff to complete FERPA training and Red Flags Rule Training to ensure they are able to identify the indicators of identity theft.

Additional procedures have been established to protect the privacy of students. The Office of Distance Learning and Professional Development limits system administrative access of the LMS to those who work directly in the management of the LMS. The Office of Distance Learning and Professional Development has implemented “gate keeping” measures to limit access to courses by faculty, staff, and students and to prevent third-party vendors from having access to student information. For example, faculty only have access to courses that they teach. Deans only have access to courses in their center of responsibility.

Student who opt to redirect their college Outlook account to another personal email account do so at their own risk. The College is not responsible for email that is not delivered to a forwarded address or for spam filters that my block email messages. The student’s failure to receive or read email communications does not constitute an excuse for missing Craven Community College communications or meeting deadlines.

Getting Started with Moodle
Students new to Moodle are encouraged to attend a Moodle Help session which covers Moodle basics. Call the Academic Skills Center (ASC) in New Bern (252-638-7274), Havelock (252-444-0707), or toll free (877-982-2233) to schedule an appointment to review Moodle.

Office 365
All Students of Craven Community College have free access to Microsoft Office products. Accessing the products and services is simple and can be completed by clicking on the following link: http://cracencc.edu/wp-content/uploads/2014/07/Accessing-Office-365-Products.pdf

DL Student Orientation
First-time distance learning students are required to complete the DL Student Orientation prior to the start of classes. The orientation will also show up in your class list under ‘My courses’. The online orientation helps to familiarize students with the Moodle environment and outlines key behaviors of successful online students. The Certificate of Completion you receive when the Orientation has been successfully completed may be required by your instructor within the first two weeks of class. In subsequent semesters, your teachers may require that you send them a copy of your certificate to prove that you have completed the DL Student Orientation.

Syllabus
The syllabus defines the boundaries of your course. It is the single most important document you will need for success in your DL course. The syllabus and its associated syllabus quiz are the attendance verification procedure for online courses. It is imperative that you read your syllabus and take the associated quiz before the stated due date. Failure to do so will result in removal from the online course.

The syllabus contains information that identifies assignments, due dates, assessment, and course expectations. It also contains your instructor’s contact information and when and how best to reach them. School and instructor policies, grades, course materials, and other pertinent course information can be found in the course syllabus. The syllabus is your key to success – you should use it as a time management tool. The course syllabus can be found in Moodle at the top of the Course Page of your class. You should print a copy and/or save a copy to your desktop for easy reference.

Attendance Policy

Enrollment is established when a student submits the syllabus quiz to their instructor within the first ten percent of the term. You will see a deadline date for the syllabus quiz in your course. That date is the 10% point of the course. When a student has missed this deadline, he or she will be automatically withdrawn from the course. Refer to the syllabus in each class for the attendance policy.

Distance learning courses have the same learning objectives as traditional seated classes. Students complete examinations, assignments, and homework/class participation as in a traditional class. The internet is used in place of most, if not all face-to-face meetings. Students communicate with instructors on a regular basis. Students are required to “attend” class for at least 80 percent of the course. When a student has failed to submit 20 percent of the assignments for a course, he or she will be withdrawn from the course.

Student Identity Verification

Craven Community College verifies the identity of a student who participates in distance education by using at least one of the two options in all Distance Education courses: a secure login and pass code and/or proctored examinations.

Craven’s Learning Management System (LMS) is Moodle. Moodle is used with all Distance Education courses. This LMS is also used in hybrid and face-to-face classes. The username and password for Moodle is generated automatically using information from the college database. The password must be changed at the initial login. This login and password must be utilized to participate in all distance education courses.

Proctored Examinations may be required for a distance education course. If required, a qualified proctor, which must be approved by the instructor, must verify the identity of the student taking the exam.

Craven also uses a secured login and password scheme for students to access college electronic services which include Outlook and WebAdvisor.

Students are made aware of these procedures in the Distance Learning Student Handbook, the Student Handbook and through a required Distance Learning Orientation.

Currently, Craven Community College does not charge an additional fee for authentication or verification of student identity. A list of all fees is located in the Craven Community College General Catalog. In addition, information about any type of fee is distributed through CCC’s WebAdvisor registration portal and via the college website under Tuition and Fees.

Academic Honesty

Students are expected to keep their Moodle log in username and password confidential, submit only original work, and adhere to the college’s policy on academic dishonesty. Any violation will be addressed according to the college’s policy on academic dishonesty which states:

Honesty and integrity are essential elements of academic endeavors, including the free exchange of ideas and knowledge. Students share in the responsibility to cultivate and maintain an environment where the pursuit of new knowledge is deeply valued in a way that always acknowledges prior original works this knowledge builds upon.

In the age of the Internet, it may appear that the work of others may be freely exchanged; however, this is not the case. Individuals who labor over such creations – whether in physical or virtual worlds – have the right to receive compensation and/or recognition for their use under copyright law in the United States. Students are responsible for ensuring that the work presented as their own is truly their own. When the work of others is presented, it must be properly attributed and cited. This includes information that is in the public domain. To review the entire policy on Academic Honesty see: http://cravencc.edu/wp-content/uploads/admin/procedures/Academic-Honesty.pdf
Technical Problems & Academic Deadlines
Due to the nature of distance learning, technical issues can arise. Distance Learning faculty will state their policy for late or incomplete work due to technical problems on the syllabus. It is the student’s responsibility to be aware of the policy and to follow it accordingly. Become familiar with the Student Handbook on the college’s website at http://cravencc.edu/students/student-handbook/ as it contains additional information concerning this and other college policies.

Admission, Grading, Transfer, and Graduation Policies for Online Students
Grading, transcripts, and transfer credit policies, as well as admission and graduation requirements are the same for online and seated courses and programs.

Holidays, Breaks, Weekends, and Inclement Weather
Distance Learning faculty members have the flexibility of scheduling due dates and deadlines as appropriate.

In addition to the college’s policy on inclement weather, all instructors will clearly indicate their individual policy concerning inclement weather in their course syllabus. If you miss class time, your instructor will contact you and inform you of the make-up days, times, or assignments.

With respect to hybrid courses, if bad weather forces the college to close, the course will not meet on campus. Announcements will be made on all major radio and TV stations in our area and posted to the College’s website. Students can also sign-up for our emergency notification system called CravenCC Alert - https://cravencce.regroup.com/signup.

During inclement weather, you must continue to meet deadlines for all online course work unless the course involves travel to campus during the weather incident. However, exceptions could be made in the event of a major power outage. You must contact your instructor as soon as possible to discuss make-up times or assignments due to major power outages.

Proctored Exams
Distance Learning courses may require proctored exams. A proctored exam is one that is overseen by an impartial individual, called a proctor, who monitors a student during the exam. The proctor ensures the security and integrity of the exam. All proctored exams and the date they are due will be clearly indicated in the course syllabus at the beginning of the course.
It is the responsibility of the students to schedule their exams and you should do so a minimum of two weeks prior to the scheduled testing date. There are Testing Centers locations on both the New Bern and Havelock campuses. Students living in Craven County may take a proctored exam in the Academic Skills Center on both the New Bern and Havelock campuses for no charge with a referral from their instructor. Students, who live outside of Craven County, are responsible for arranging for a qualified proctor to supervise the exam. A relative, no matter what their position, may not serve as a proctor.

Please be advised that proctors may charge a fee to supervise the exam. Any charge will be the responsibility of the student. A student can often identify an acceptable proctor by visiting their local library or community college and inquiring about proctors in the area.

Instructors may also require students to use a program called Respondus LockDown Browser and/or Respondus Monitor. These programs further enhance test security by prohibiting web browsing and other computer activities during an online exam. Furthermore, students may be asked to use a webcam during testing if the instructor elects to use Respondus Monitor. Students will be notified of these requirements at the start of the class in the course syllabus.

Academic Skills Center

The ASC provides academic support to students who are enrolled in courses at Craven Community College. The mission is to help students reach their academic, personal, social and economic potential by supporting their intellectual growth, directing them to reach for resources and motivating them to become lifelong learners. To access these services, students must ask their instructors to complete a referral at http://cravenc.edu/asc/. The ASC Staff provide FREE services through the:

- Math Lab
- Computer Lab
- Writing Lab
- Smarthinking

Services for Distance Learning Students

All services afforded to on-campus students are available to distance learning students. To access the services described below, the student will need to obtain a referral from their instructor. The referral form is located at http://cravenc.edu/asc/. Services particularly helpful to online students include:
Writing Lab
The Craven Community College Writing Lab is located in the Academic Skills Center (ASC) at the New Bern and Havelock locations, and available to all students. Writing Lab hours vary from semester to semester. Please call New Bern (252-638-7274), Havelock (252-444-0707), or toll free (877-982-2233) for the current semester’s schedule.

The writing lab provides valuable suggestions to students regarding essays, research papers, resumes, and a wide variety of other documents. The ultimate goal is not to “fix” papers, but to empower students with the skills necessary for overall improvement of writing skills. Tutors are permitted to offer generalized feedback, but not to point out all grammatical errors or to make actual corrections for students. Student improvement is the goal, and hopefully, the ultimate outcome of the services provided by the writing lab tutors.

Students may also receive assistance with their writing by utilizing Smarthinking which does not require a visit to campus.

Smarthinking
Smarthinking is an online tutoring platform the Academic Skills Center (ASC) offers to curriculum students, and particularly to those who are taking DL courses and cannot make the commute for face-to-face tutoring. Students request a referral from their faculty member. Once submitted, the ASC will contact the student with a password and other details needed to access the system. The referral is good for one semester.

Curriculum Pathways
Another option available for students needing assistance with papers can be found in the Writing Reviser of SAS Curriculum Pathways. Students may log in as a guest at www.sascurriculumpathways.com/portal/ with the campus username of 'located5questions'. There is no required password. This guest option will not allow students to save work and return to it at a later date. Students may wish to create a personal account to be able to save and return to their work. Personal accounts may be created by clicking on the "sign up" link on the SAS Curriculum Pathways homepage. Under How do you want to sign up?, select Microsoft. Under username, type in the campus username of ‘located5questions’. The Writing Reviser link can be found by going to the blue toolbar located at the top of page, then click on Browse Resources, then click on English Language Arts & Reading. The Writing Reviser is located at the top of the page, in the middle.

Library
The Godwin Memorial Library located on the New Bern Campus, is available to online students at http://cravencc.libguides.com/library. Students can chat online with a librarian through NC Knows, learn to use the library catalog, NCLIVE help, learn about journals and magazines, MLS and APA citation help, and internet search tips.

The password to access NCLIVE is your Panther identification number, or your library card number.

Frequently Asked Questions

About Online Learning

1. How do I know an online course is right for me?
   So you've been thinking of taking an online course, but aren't sure if it's right for you. Here are a few questions to ask yourself:
   - Do I have access to a reliable computer with internet access? This is the most important question. You must be able to regularly log-in to your course, check due dates for assignments, submit work, and communicate with your instructor and fellow classmates.
   - Am I comfortable on the internet and confident in my computer skills? You don't have to be a "computer whiz" to be successful in an online course, but you will need to be familiar with word processing, accessing online resources, generating and sending documents electronically, file management, navigating through a website, and using information and media literacy to critically assess validity of web-based content.
   - Do I have the time to commit to an online course? Flexibility is one of the most attractive aspects of online learning. Although the time of day may not be important as to when you work on your studies; how much time you spend on your studies is. Plan on spending 3 hours of study time for each credit hour your course is worth (Ex: A 3 semester hour course would require 9 hours per week of study and preparation time).
   - Am I a good manager of my time? Flexibility = freedom which can lead to procrastination. Just like a seated class, staying on top of your studies and not allowing yourself to fall behind is essential to student success.
   - Am I self-motivated? With online learning, the instructor is only there to guide you in your studies. There are no lectures to tell you what to do. Therefore, much of what is learned in an online course is on your own.

Still not sure...try an elective course as your first online class to see how you do. If you like it and do well, then you should have your answer. Good Luck!

2. How do I succeed in an online course?
   As with all courses, managing your time and employing good study skills are keys to being successful. Online courses require additional skills as well:
   - Completing assignments on time – Assignments have specific due dates in online learning. Failure to turn in assignments on time will result in poor or failing grades.
   - Balancing personal obligations – Many online learners have family and work responsibilities. Making sure one schedules enough time for coursework is crucial.
   - Participation – Be sure to post, and comment on classmate’s posting, as this is an essential part of online learning.
• Proofread – Since nearly all assignments will be typed, be sure to proofread carefully to ensure you are sending your best work to the instructor.

• Print and follow the syllabus – Following the syllabus will help you manage your time, assignment due dates, and personal commitments.

3. Can I take an online course without enrolling in a degree program?
   Absolutely! However, if you wish to earn a degree or receive a certificate, you must enroll in that program. Speak to an admissions representative at 252-638-7200 (New Bern) or 252-444-2119 (Havelock) for more information, or visit admissions at http://cravencc.edu/admissions/

Getting Started in Your Online Class

1. Do I have to sign in at a particular time and place?
   Yes. Log-in to your online course the first day of the semester. Enrollment is established when you submit the syllabus quiz, which must be done within the first ten percent of the class. Look for the deadline date to submit your syllabus quiz at the top of your online course. Failure to submit your syllabus quiz by the deadline will result in you being automatically withdrawn from the class. Once you have established enrollment, you will need to regularly log-in to complete assignments, communicate with your instructor and classmates, and receive feedback and grades for work completed. Follow the syllabus and submit assignments on time to receive credit.

2. How do I get my books and course materials?
   All course materials can be purchased in person or online through the College Bookstore at http://cravencc.edu/bookstore/. If you need to speak with someone call (252) 638-7259.

   How long do I have to finish an online course?

3. Can I work at my own pace in an online course?
   You can...provided all materials are completed and turned in to your instructor by the assigned due dates.

4. If I have a question, how do I get in touch with my instructor?
   Your instructor will identify their contact information at the top of their syllabus. That information will include e-mail, phone number, office hours and location, as well as the best times to reach them. You can reach any full-time instructor as well using the campus directory on the college’s website at http://cravencc.edu/faculty-and-staff-directory/

5. How many students will be in the class?

6. Will we have group projects in an online class?
